It was on the fateful day Friday that Bryan received his third nomination for the presidency.

Bryan says that if he is elected he will not be a candidate for re-election. The question that most concerns the nation is, what will be his attitude four years hence in case he is not elected.

The main burden of Chairman Clayton's speech at Denver was President Roosevelt. After unburdening himself by such a display of wrath, he should feel like a loyal democrat. He made no political capital however by slurring the president of the United States.

Question: If Pennsylvania was not so hopelessly republican, would Bryan have scared Guffy or would he have made his peace with him as he has with Sullivan of Illinois and Murphy of New York and as he did with Croker in 1900 by saying, "Great is Tammany and Croker is its prophet?"

There are many able men in this city and elsewhere who would be insulted if you were to deny their belief in democratic principles, who are opposed to Bryan for president. They of course will not openly denounce him and his policies, but those who are close to them soon see that they regard him as the greatest dictator that the country has ever known.

The markets on last Monday morning as given by P. S. Heacock & Son were as follows: wheat 80 cents, mixed corn 70 cents and white corn 75 cents, oats 40 cents, Hogs $6.25 and cattle going up so fast that we are afraid to quote. Bryan says the country needs a change and if elected he will see that a change is made. Mr. Farmer, do you want a change?

Be patient if the weather seems a little too warm for comfort. Good hot weather with an occasional rain will insure another large crop of corn for this state. Wheat is yielding nicely, the crop of tame hay was heavier than it has been for years, and pastures have been exceptionally good. Smile as best you can and congratulate yourself because of our county's splendid prospects.

Bryan says his committee will take no money from corporations. What rot! Corporations are as legitimate as partnership or individuals. Under such a ruling Bryan would take no money from any of our three banks, from the Vinegar factory or any other local corporate body. The Tribune is a corporation and we don't feel any the worse for it. Bryan is quite willing to take money from the individuals who form the corporations, but will take nothing from the corporations. If this isn't the act of a demagogue we will stop guessing.

Kern. Who is John W. Kern? What qualifications has he for the vice presidency of the United States? First he is a democrat, second he has been city attorney of his home town and was once a member of the Indiana legislature; third he has been twice defeated for governor of his state. These are his qualifications. How do you like him as a man who might be called upon to act as the president of United States? Reflect on this a little my democratic friends.

Falls City State Bank

And now the devil is to pay. The republican state central committee placed a Taft banner across the street at their headquarters in Lincoln and at once the hotel keepers, street railway magnates and saloon keepers who expect to make a little money out of the pilgrims who will visit Bryan this summer raised a howl. The banner was cut down one night by some misguided enthusiast and the committee will raise it again. The ordinary republican will fail to see why the party should go out of business for the benefit of the hotel and saloon men of Lincoln, Cincinnati, the home of Sec. Taft has several Bryan banners flying and we haven't heard of anyone cutting them down. If Taft banners cannot fly in Lincoln it might be a good idea to move the headquarters to Omaha.

Bryan says, "Guffy of Pennsylvania is a boss". "No more of a boss," replies Guffy, "than I was in 1896 and 1900, when at Bryan's request I contributed so largely to his campaign". Bryan says "Guffy is a corporation man". "No more of a corporation man than when I was when helping Bryan in 1896 and 1900 with his knowledge and at his request. Then I was all right, because I was for him", continued Guffy. "Now I am all wrong not because I am a boss, neither because I am a corporation man, but because I am opposed to him". Bryan excoriated Roger Sullivan of Illinois in 1904 when Parker was a candidate, and called him a boss and a "political highwayman". Now he and Sullivan are political intimates. If Bryan is looking for bosses, why not take a fall out of Murphy of New York? The reasons Bryan scores Guffy and not Sullivan and Murphy are two: the first because Pennsylvania is about 250,000 Republican, while New York and Illinois might go Democratic; the second is, Bosses Sullivan and Murphy are for Bryan, while Guffy is against him.

Lincoln seems determined to put the Republican national ticket out of the business so far as it can for the reason that Bryan is an asset and the capital city needs the money. The Taft banner is cut down in the night, the State Journal develops what Mr. Dooly calls the "Judicial tempirament" to an extent that leaves its readers in doubt as to its politics, and the cabbys and hotel keepers and moist emporiums ring up the cash registers at the expense of the visiting Bryanites with a regularity altogether pleasing to the town of daylight saloons. However, the great body of Republicans throughout the state are not entirely absorbed with the idea of Lincoln's prosperity. The rank and file of the party are too far removed to hear the tinkle of the bell as the barkeep rings the register. The fire on the altar still burns in the rural districts and Taft and Roosevelt are still names to conjure with. The truth of the matter is that Lincoln has been the most consistent beggar on the corner. Never a legislature without its commercial club, its prominent citizens, its newspapers, merchants and its plethora of statesmen appealing for appropriate tions. The Regents of the university are besieged by Lincoln merchants to the point of desperation. The members of the legislature are told of the needs of the public institutions in Lincoln until they take to the high grass for protection. The aversion of Lincoln is a by-word and has been for years. The next legislature will be Republican. The next legislature will watch Lincoln's vote this fall as will the thousands of Republicans throughout the state. The Republicans and the Republican legislature are willing to be shown, and having once been shown will profit by the experience.

NEW JERSEY MEMBER BOLTS.

The following letter from a Democratic member of Congress to Mr. Taft is only indicative of the feeling of many Democrats toward Mr. Taft and their dislike of the Denver platform and its candidate. Coming from a Democrat, it is good reading.

JERSEY CITY, July 10, 1908.—Hon. William H. Taft, Hot Springs, Va.—My Dear Mr. Taft: I cannot subscribe either to the candidate or the platform of the democratic convention. The conservative citizens of this country who are neither reactionary nor the representatives of predatory wealth or special interests, but who desire a rigid enforcement of the law with equal justice, must look to you for protection against the wave of radicalism and class prejudice which will follow the Denver convention. You will have my vote on election day and if, during the campaign, my services will be of any value to your national committee, I will cheerfully tender them. Very respectfully yours,

EUGENE W. LEAKE.
